The Story

Susan Alexander and Tom Alexander are a mother-son team who are the proud owners of Lettie's Kitchen, opening in the spring of 2011.

Their goal is simple: to bring home comfort food prepared in a unique way using only the freshest ingredients to the residents of Hockessin and surrounding areas.

The name "Lettie's" holds special meaning for the owners; it was Susan's late mother's name and the inspiration behind the concept. Lettie was born in Hockessin in 1922, only a block from where Lettie's Restaurant stands today. In Hockessin, Lettie was famous for her meals, which ranged from simple and satisfying to a gourmet spread 'Fit for a King'.

Willing to try anything once, Lettie began honing her skills in the kitchen at a young age in her parent's grocery store, Gormley's Market, which opened in Hockessin in 1886 and serve the community for 97 years. She continued to be innovative in the kitchen, creating fabulous meals for her family for the next seventy years.

Susan and Tom feel blessed to be able to use many of these recipes in their restaurant. Lettie's promises to fill the gap in Hockessin dining by providing customers with a delicious variety of soups, sandwiches, salads, side dishes, desserts, and complete meals ready to take home.

Lettie's Kitchen is Located on Old Lancaster Pike, adjacent to the Francis J Swift Memorial Park. This location could not be more perfect; the park is named after Fran Swift, Lettie's husband, Susan's father & Tom's grandfather!
